

Sixth Form Detention and Compulsory Study Policy

This policy should be read in conjunction with INA Positive Behaviour for Learning Policy and the Culture and Ethos in the Sixth Form Policy

Same Day Detentions & Compulsory Study

At Isaac Newton Academy same day detentions/compulsory Study sessions are set when a student breaks the code of conduct or fails to complete his or her independent learning. Parents/carers are informed of the detention via a text message. Expectations around code of conduct and sanctions breaching these expectations are outlined in the Sixth Form-Student-Home agreement and is discussed with parents/carers and signed by all parties during the interviews prior to a student starting at INA.

It is our expectation that parents/carers support the same day compulsory study policy. This means that the detention must take precedence over any other commitments the child may have. Should a student have an unavoidable appointment at the time of the detention, parents are asked to provide written confirmation of it if they would like the school to consider a deferral.

It is important that parents/carers support the school in upholding the Culture and Ethos policy by ensuring that their son/daughter completes any detention that is set.
